

King Vulture

The King Vulture is a large species of New World vulture. The body plumage is mostly creamy white, with blackish wing coverts and tail feathers. The bare head includes reddish-purple tones along with black. The beak is black with a dark red tip and a yellow-orange cere and crest.